

ASX Announcement

21 February 2020

Appointment of Engineering Company

BBX Minerals Ltd (ASX:BBX) (“BBX” or “the Company”) is pleased to announce the appointment of Belo Horizonte-based engineering group Onix Engenharia e Consultoria Ltda (“Onix”) to conduct an engineering study for a metallurgical test plant to be built in Rio de Janeiro (see media release of January 30, 2020). The study, which will comprise a conceptual plant design and capital and operating cost estimates is expected to take 10-12 weeks. The expected timeframe has been extended from the previous estimate of 6-8 weeks due to the need to obtain quotes for pieces of equipment with unique specifications, not be available as off-the-shelf items.

The plant will be designed to fully test and optimise the Company’s preferred extraction technique for the complex style of mineralisation identified at Ema and Três Estados. Onix’s extensive experience in designing and building treatment plants in Brazil will be invaluable in developing a plant concept which fully addresses BBX’s treatment process.
