4 RISK FACTORS

An investment in the Company is not risk free. Before deciding to acquire the New Shares, Shareholders and prospective investors should read the entire Prospectus, consider at least the following risk factors in light of their personal circumstances and investment objectives (including financial and taxation issues) and seek professional advice from their accountant, stockbroker, lawyer or other professional adviser.

The operating and financial performance and position of the Company, the value of the Shares and the amount and timing of any dividends that the Company may pay will be influenced by a range of factors. Many of these factors will remain beyond the control of the Company and the Directors. Accordingly, these factors may have a material effect on the Company's performance and profitability which may cause the market price of Shares to rise or fall over any given period.

This section identifies the areas the Directors regard as major risks associated with an investment in the Company. This list is not intended to be an exhaustive list of the risk factors to which the Company is exposed.

4.1 Specific risks

In addition to the general risks outlined below, there are specific risks associated with the Company's existing and proposed operations. These include:

(a) Acquisition of 75% of Eldorado do Juma Project

Pursuant to an option agreement BBX has acquired 100% of Minorte Extração de Minério Ltda (Minorte), which in turn has entered into a conditional agreement to acquire a 75% interest in the Eldorado do Juma gold project (Eldorado do Juma Project). This agreement is subject to the satisfaction of a number of pre-conditions, including lifting of a current restriction by the Departamento Nacional de Produção Mineral (DNPM) (Brazilian Mines Department) to non-garimpeiro mining activity in the area, granting of exploration licences from the existing co-op licences and transfer of title to Comin Gold (a BBX managed entity). The Company has concluded a sales agreement on Eldorado de Juma which is conditional on the DNPM lifting its restrictions on the area.

In the event that the restriction is not lifted, or the other pre-conditions are not satisfied or waived, Minorte's acquisition of a 75% interest in the Eldorado do Juma Project may not proceed. While the Company is confident that the restriction will be lifted in due course, and the other conditions satisfied, in the event the acquisition does not proceed this may adversely affect the operations, financial positions and/or performance of the Company.

(b) Additional requirements for funding

BBX will be required to raise additional funds in the future in the event exploration costs exceed BBX's estimates and to effectively implement its business and operations plans in the future, to take advantage of opportunities for acquisitions, joint ventures or other business opportunities, and to meet any unanticipated liabilities or expenses which BBX may incur.

BBX may seek to raise further funds through equity or debt financing, joint ventures, production sharing arrangements or other means. Failure to obtain sufficient financing for BBX's activities and future projects may result in delay and indefinite postponement of exploration, or even loss of a property interest. There can be no assurance that additional finance will be available when needed or, if available, the terms of the financing might not be favourable to BBX and might involve substantial dilution to Shareholders.

Loan agreements and other financing rearrangements such as debt facilities, convertible note issues and finance leases (and any related guarantee and security) that may be entered into by BBX may contain covenants, undertakings and other provisions which, if breached, may entitle lenders to accelerate repayment of loans and there is no assurance that BBX would be able to repay such loans in the event of an acceleration. Enforcement of any security granted by BBX or default under a finance lease could also result in the loss of assets.

(c) Exploration risks

The mineral tenements of the Company are at various stages of exploration, and potential investors should understand that mineral exploration and development are high-risk undertakings.

The Company has completed a 6 hole drilling programme at Juma East. The first drill hole at Juma East, JED-001 intersected visible gold disseminated in siliceous rock. However, no significant results from assays were returned from Hole 1 or from a further three holes drilled JED-002 to JED-04 however a yellow metallic mineral identified as gold was observed in Hole JED-004.

The Company has undertaken studies to reconcile the assay results with visual and microscopic observations to focus on the possibility that gold is present at Juma East that did not respond to conventional analytical techniques and subsequently announced the results on 1 February 2016. The Company has not been able to fully reconcile the differences between the assay results and visual observations and is continuing to investigate the analytical issues at Juma East.

There can be no assurance that exploration of these tenements, or any other tenements that may be acquired in the future, will result in the discovery of an economic ore deposit. Even if an apparently viable deposit is identified, there is no guarantee that it can be economically exploited.

The future exploration activities of the Company may be affected by a range of factors including geological conditions, limitations on activities due to seasonal weather patterns, unanticipated operational and technical difficulties, industrial and environmental accidents, native title process, changing government regulations and many other factors beyond the control of the Company.

The success of the Company will also depend upon the Company having access to sufficient development capital, being able to maintain title to its tenements and obtaining all required approvals for its activities. In the event that exploration programmes prove to be unsuccessful this could lead to a diminution in the value of the tenements, a reduction in the cash reserves of the Company and possible relinquishment of the tenements.

The exploration costs of the Company are based on certain assumptions with respect to the method and timing of exploration. By their nature, these estimates and assumptions are subject to significant uncertainties and, accordingly, the actual costs may materially differ from these estimates and assumptions. Accordingly, no assurance can be given that the cost estimates and the underlying assumptions will be realised in practice, which may materially and adversely affect the Company's viability.

- (d) Market price of gold

Changes in the market price of gold, which in the past have fluctuated widely, will affect the viability of the Company. The market price of gold is set in the world market and is affected by numerous industry factors beyond the Company's control, including the demand for precious metals, expectations with respect to the rate of inflation, interest rates, currency exchange rates, the demand for jewellery and industrial products containing metals, gold production levels, inventories, cost of substitutes, changes in global or regional investment or consumption patterns, and sales by central banks and other holders, speculators and procedures of gold and other metals in response to any of the above factors, and global and regional political and economic factors.

(e) Gold price volatility and exchange rate

If the Company achieves success leading to gold production, the revenue it will derive through the sale of these precious metals exposes the potential income of the Company to price and exchange rate risks. Gold prices fluctuate and are affected by many factors beyond the control of the Company. Such factors include supply and demand fluctuations for precious metals, technological advancements, forward selling activities and other macro-economic factors.

Furthermore, international prices of gold is denominated in United States dollars, whereas the income and expenditure of the Company are and will be taken into account in Brazilian and Australian currency, exposing the Company to the fluctuations and volatility of the rate of exchange between the United States dollar, the Australian dollar and the Brazilian real as determined in international markets.

(f) Gold - development risks

The Company's ability to achieve development cost and capital expenditure estimates on a timely basis cannot be assured. The business of gold mine development involves many risks and may be impacted by factors including overall availability of free cash to fund continuing development activities, labour force disruptions, cost overruns, changes in the regulatory environment and other unforeseen contingencies. Other risks also exist such as environmental hazards (including discharge of pollutants or hazardous chemicals), industrial accidents and occupational and health hazards. Such occurrences could result in damage to, or destruction of, facilities, personal injury or death, environmental damage, increased development costs and other monetary losses and possible legal liability to the owner of the tenements. The Company may become subject to liability for pollution or other hazards against which it has not insured or cannot insure, including those in respect of past mining activities for which it was not responsible.

In addition the Company's profitability could be adversely affected if for any reason its mine development is unexpectedly interrupted or slowed. Examples of events which could have such an impact include unscheduled plant shutdowns or other processing problems, mechanical failures, the unavailability of materials and equipment, pit slope failures, unusual or unexpected rock formations, poor or unexpected geological or metallurgical conditions, poor or inadequate ventilation, failure of mine communication systems, poor water condition, interruptions to gas and electricity supplies, human error and adverse weather conditions.

The risks outlined above also mean that there can be no assurances as to the future development of a mining operation in relation to any of the Company's projects described in this Prospectus or which the Company may acquire in the future.

(g) Brazil

BBX's projects are located in Brazil. The Company may be subject to the risks associated with operating in Brazil, involving various risks and uncertainties which could include, but are not limited to, exchange rate fluctuations, potential for higher inflation, labour unrest, the risks of expropriation and nationalization, renegotiation or nullification of existing concessions, licences, permits and contracts, illegal mining, changes in taxation policies, restrictions on foreign exchange and repatriation and changing political conditions, currency controls and restrictions on imports of equipment and consumables and on the use of foreign contractors. Changes, if any, in mining or investment policies or shifts in political attitude in Brazil may impact the operations or profitability of the Company. Operations may be affected in varying degrees by government regulations with respect to, but not limited to, production, price controls, export controls, foreign currency remittance, income taxes, expropriation of property, foreign investment, maintenance of claims, environmental legislation, land use, land claims of local people, water use and mine safety.

Failure to comply strictly with applicable laws, regulations and local practices relating to mineral rights applications and tenure, could result in loss, reduction or expropriation of entitlements, or the imposition of additional local or foreign parties as joint venture partners with carried or other interests.

Outcomes in courts in Brazil may be less predictable than in Australia, which could affect the enforceability of contracts entered into by the Company or its subsidiaries in Brazil.

The occurrence of these various factors and uncertainties cannot be accurately predicted and could impact on the operations or profitability of the Company. The Company has made its investment and strategic decisions based on the information currently available to the Directors, however should there be any material change in the political, economic, legal and social environments in Brazil, the Directors may reassess investment decisions and commitments to assets in Brazil.

(h) Environmental

The operations and proposed activities of the Company are subject to laws and regulations concerning the environment. As with most exploration projects and mining operations, the Company's activities are expected to have an impact on the environment, particularly if advanced exploration or mine development proceeds. It is the Company's intention to conduct its activities to the highest standard of environmental obligation, including compliance with all environmental laws.

Mining operations have inherent risks and liabilities associated with safety and damage to the environment and the disposal of waste products occurring as a result of mineral exploration and production. Events, such as unpredictable rainfall, bush fires, floods etc may impact on the Company's ongoing compliance with environmental legislation, regulations and licences. Significant liabilities could be imposed on the Company for damages, cleanup costs or penalties in the event of certain discharges into the environment, environmental damage caused by previous operations or non-compliance with environmental laws or regulations.

The disposal of mining and process waste and mine water discharge are under constant legislative scrutiny and regulation. There is a risk that environmental laws and regulations become more onerous making the Company's operations more expensive.

Approvals are required for land clearing and for ground disturbing activities. Delays in obtaining such approvals can result in the delay to anticipated exploration programmes or mining activities.

(i) Title risk

BBX cannot give any assurance that title to the BBX's projects will not be challenged or impugned for various reasons, including that they may be subject to prior unregistered agreements or transfers or title may be affected by undetected defects.

Interests in title in Brazil are governed by laws and regulations and are evidenced by granting of licences, rights, leases, etc (Title Right). There is no guarantee that applications will be granted to the Company or other person who applied for a Title Right through which the Company has a beneficial interest to the Title Right. Each Title Right is for a specific term and carries with it annual expenditure and reporting commitments, as well as other conditions requiring compliance. Consequently, the Company could lose title to, or its interests in, tenements if Title Right conditions are not met or if insufficient funds are available to meet expenditure commitments when they arise.

Further, Title Rights are subject to periodic renewal. There is no guarantee that current or future Title Rights will be approved. Renewal of the terms of the granted Title Right is at the discretion of the relevant government authority. Renewal conditions may include increased expenditure or work commitments or compulsory relinquishment of the areas comprising the Company's projects. The imposition of new conditions or the inability to meet those conditions may adversely affect the operations, financial position and/or performance of the Company.

(j) Regulatory risk

Changes in relevant taxes (including GST), legal and administrative regimes and government policies in Australia, Brazil and other overseas states may adversely affect the financial performance of the Company, including the possibility of adversely affecting granting of Title Rights and the legal regime surrounding Title Rights. Any change to the current rate of company income tax in Australia and Brazil will impact upon Shareholder returns. Any change to current rates of income tax applied to individuals and trusts may also impact upon Shareholder returns. In addition, any change in tax arrangements between Australia and Brazil and other jurisdictions could have an adverse impact on profits and the level of franking credits available to frank any future dividends.

(k) Insurance risks

Insurance against all risks associated with the Company's operations is not always available, or if it is available, affordable. The Company will maintain insurance where it is considered appropriate for its needs. However there are likely to be some risks, in particular those relating to wilful damage and political risks, for which it will not be insured either because appropriate cover is not available or because the Board consider the required premiums to be excessive having regard to the risk mitigation provided.

(l) Third party risks

The operations of the Company will require involvement with a number of third parties, including suppliers, contractors and customers. Financial failure, default or contractual non-compliance of the part of such third parties may materially harm the performance of the Company. It is not possible for the Company to predict or protect itself against all such risks.

(m) Counterparty risk

The Company has entered into conditional agreements with third parties, including option agreements in regard to the Eldorado do Juma Project and lease agreements in relation to the exploration licences granted for the Juma East, Ema, Pombos and Tres Estados Projects. There is a risk that the counterparties may not meet their obligations under those agreements. There is also a risk that failure to meet conditions will result in the loss of interest. Commercial consequences are likely to flow from any non-observance of commercial obligations.

(n) Joint venture risk

The Company may in the future become a party to joint venture agreements governing the exploration and development of its projects. There is a risk that one of the Company's future joint venture partners may default in their joint venture obligations or not act in the best interests of the joint venture. This may have an adverse effect the operations and performance of the Company.

(o) Occupational health and safety

The mining industry has become subject to increasing occupational health and safety responsibility and liability. The potential for liability is a constant risk.

(p) Reliance on key management

The responsibility of overseeing the day-to-day operations and the strategic management of BBX depends substantially on its senior management and its key personnel. There can be no assurance given that there will be no detrimental impact on BBX if one or more of these employees cease their employment.

(q) Competition risk

The industry in which BBX will be involved is subject to domestic and global competition. Although BBX will undertake all reasonable due diligence in its business decisions and operations, BBX will have no influence or control over the activities or actions of its competitors, which activities or actions may, positively or negatively, affect the operating and financial performance of BBX's projects and business.

(r) Force majeure

BBX and its projects, now or in the future may be adversely affected by risks outside the control of BBX including labour unrest, civil disorder, war, subversive activities or sabotage, extreme weather conditions, fires, floods, explosions or other catastrophes, epidemics or quarantine restrictions.

(s) Litigation risks

BBX is exposed to possible litigation risks including native title claims, tenure disputes, environmental claims, occupational health and safety claims and employee claims. Further, BBX may be involved in disputes with other parties in the future which may result in litigation. Any such claim or dispute if proven, may impact adversely on BBX's operations, financial performance and financial position. BBX is not currently engaged in any litigation.

(t) Trading price of Shares

BBX's operating results, economic and financial prospects and other factors will affect the trading price of the Shares. In addition, the price of Shares is subject to varied and often unpredictable influences on the market for equities, including, but not limited to general economic conditions including the Australian dollar and United States dollar performance on world markets, inflation rates, foreign exchange rates and interest rates, variations in the general market for listed stocks in general or Australian mining stocks in particular, changes to government policy, legislation or regulation, industrial disputes, general operational and business risks and hedging or arbitrage trading activity that may develop involving the Shares.

In particular, the share prices for many companies have been and may in the future be highly volatile, which in many cases may reflect a diverse range of non-company specific influences such as global hostilities and tensions relating to certain unstable regions of the world, acts of terrorism and the general state of the global economy. No assurances can be made that BBX's market performance will not be adversely affected by any such market fluctuations or factors.

(u) Speculative nature of investment

The above list of risk factors should not to be taken as exhaustive of the risks faced by BBX or by investors in BBX. Shareholders should consider that the investment in BBX is speculative and should consult their professional advisers before deciding whether to apply for the New Shares.

Whether or not future income will result from projects undergoing exploration programmes is dependent on the successful results of that exploration and on the subsequent establishment of development and production operations or sale of the projects.

Factors including costs, equipment availability, and mineral prices affect successful project development as does the design and construction of efficient exploration facilities, competent operation and management and prudent financial administration, including the availability and reliability of appropriately skilled and experienced consultants.

In particular, changes in global economic conditions (including changes in interest rates, inflation, foreign exchange rates and labour costs) as well as general trends in the Australian and overseas equity markets may affect BBX's operations and particularly the trading price of the Shares on the ASX.

5.1 Disclosing entity

The Company is a 'disclosing entity' (as defined in section 111AC of the Corporations Act) for the purposes of section 713 of the Corporations Act and, as such, is subject to regular reporting and disclosure obligations. Specifically, like all listed companies, the Company is required to continuously disclose any information it has to the market which a reasonable person would expect to have a material effect on the price or the value of the Company's securities.

This Prospectus is intended to be read in conjunction with the publicly available information in relation to the Company which has been notified to ASX and does not include all of the information that would be included in a prospectus for an initial public offering of securities in an entity that is not already listed on a stock exchange. Information that is already in the public domain has not been reported in this Prospectus other than that which is considered necessary to make this Prospectus complete.

The Company, as a disclosing entity under the Corporations Act states that:

- (a) it is subject to regular reporting and disclosure obligations;

5.2 No prospective financial forecasts

The Directors have considered the matters outlined in ASIC Regulatory Guide 170 and believe that they do not have a reasonable basis to forecast future earnings because the proposed future operations of the Company do not have an operating history from which reliable forecasts can be made. Accordingly, any forecast or projection information would contain such a broad range of potential outcomes and possibilities that it is not possible to prepare a reliable best estimate forecast or projection.

Notwithstanding the above, this Prospectus includes, or may include, forward looking statements including, without limitation, forward looking statements regarding the Company's financial position, business strategy, and plans and objectives for its business and future operations (including development plans and objectives), which have been based on the Company's current expectations. These forward-looking statements are, however, subject to known and unknown risks, uncertainties and assumptions that could cause actual results, performance or achievements to differ materially from future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. Such forward looking statements are based on numerous assumptions regarding the Company's present and future business strategies and environment in which the Company will operate in the future.

Matters not yet known to the Company or not currently considered material to the Company may impact on these forward looking statements. These statements reflect views held only as at the date of this Prospectus. In light of these risks, uncertainties and assumptions, the forward-looking statements in this Prospectus might not occur. Investors are therefore cautioned not to place undue reliance on these statements.

5.3 Privacy

If an Applicant becomes a Shareholder, the Corporations Act requires the Company to include information about the Shareholder (including name, address and details of the Shares held) in its public register. The information contained in the Company's public register must remain there even if that person ceases to be a Shareholder. Information contained in the Company's register is also used to facilitate distribution payments and corporate communications (including the Company's financial results, annual reports and other information that the Company may wish to communicate to its security holders) and compliance by the Company with legal and regulatory requirements.

If you do not provide the information required on the Application Form, the Company may not be able to accept or process your Application.
